FRANCE'S FORMER PREMIER WRITES NOTE TO COOLIDGE

War-Time Head of Nation Tells President "Country Will Never Sacrifice Freedom."

U. S. COMPARED WITH RUSSIANS

"We Inherited France Independent, and Independent We Will Leave Her," Asserts "Tiger."

BY UNITED NEWS.

Georges Clemenceau, "The Tiger," who as premier, piloted his country through the war, again is the hero of France.

Clemenceau has written a remarkable direct letter to President Coolidge, pleading for American lenience in the funding of the French debt, referring almost bitterly to America's late entry into the war, her separate peace with Germany and the numbers France lost on the battlefield and warning that France will not be driven past the breaking point to pay her debt to the United States.

Having broken a virtual silence of years again to come to the aid of his people, Clemenceau apparently has roared to America and the world what is in the hearts of the great majority of Frenchmen. The Paris press is unanimous in lauding his bold communication to Coolidge and insisting that it represents the viewpoint of his average countryman.

Apparently his letter did not have the inspiration of the French government, which, however, may have been advised of what he was going to do.

No Immediate Effect.

Although the Clemenceau letter undoubtedly will carry a tremendous appeal to the people of France and may consolidate sentiment there, it is not expected to have any immediate effect on the official attitude of this country. President Coolidge, at Plymouth, has decided not to study the letter immediately, as it has not officially been called to his attention.

Representative Crisp, of Georgia, the first member of the American debt funding commission to comment on Clemenceau's letter Sunday night, expressed confidence that no change would be brought about in the government's attitude and that the president would take no step to reduce the debt.

Mexico Threatens To Vex President Throughout Term

ALABAMA SIZZLES IN POLITICAL HEAT AS VOTING BEGINS

Most Gruelling Democratic Campaign State Has Seen for 12 Years Nears End.

BY J. O'DONNELL BENNETT.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Washington, August 8.—Instead of having disposed of the many-sided Mexican problem, which has been a source of vexation to several administrations, President Coolidge is threatened with a continuation of this difficult situation throughout the remainder of his term.

Ambassador Sheffield is about to return to the United States to discuss aggravated issues bearing on both economic and religious questions with Secretary of State Kellogg in Washington and with President Coolidge at White Pine camp. Advance information indicates that he will report to his superiors that relations between the two countries are far from being adjusted in the satisfactory manner supposed when it became possible during the present administration to resume diplomatic connections following the mission of Charles B. Warren and John Barton Payne to Mexico.

The latest American note which has just been delivered to the Mexican foreign office by Ambassador Sheffield is a reiteration of this government's attitude in regard to the rights of American citizens and takes up, it is understood, certain phases of the Mexican petroleum and alien land laws.

Position Is Firm.

This government is maintaining in a firm but judicial and diplomatic manner the position that the full rights of its citizens, both as to life and property must be protected.

As to the religious controversy in which the Mexican government and the Catholic church are now involved the administration holds that, except as the rights of American citizens are interfered with or injured, it is not a matter of international concern.

This government, it is asserted, would not be warranted in intervening or in taking up formally and officially with the Mexican government matters of domestic regulation.

Secretary Kellogg's note to Aaron Saenz, Mexican minister for foreign affairs, is a reply to one from the latter dated March 27, last. It is known that ever since that time the state department has been continuing its careful study of the Mexican alien and petroleum laws and the regulations governing those enactments. It adds another chapter to the list of communications dealing with that subject which have been passed between the two governments since last October when the state department, through Ambassador Sheffield, submitted to the Mexican foreign office certain specific inquiries concerning the meaning and interpretation of the so-called alien land bill in the form in which it then stood before the Mexican congress. The basis of these inquiries and of those which have been made since, was as to the retroactive effect of article 27 of the Mexican constitution of 1917, on which both the petroleum and the land laws were based.

Impasse Is Seen.

The religious situation having added to the delicacy of the relations between the two governments, state department officials have declined to make any comment whatever on the problems now under discussion. It is the opinion of well-informed American authorities, however, that both the mineral, or petroleum law, and the alien land law are retroactive in effect and that their practical operation would bring about a thinly-veiled confiscation of properties which had been legally acquired by American citizens prior to the adoption of the 1917 constitution. No immediate solution of the differences between the two governments is in sight. In the view of these authorities, but on the other hand the controversy is likely to be long drawn out. They see the possibility of an impasse over this problem, unless some new and unforeseen factors enter to change the situation.

U. S. ATTITUDE SEEN AS FIRM

American Government Maintains Position That Full Rights of Citizens Must Be Protected.

Washington Regards Clemenceau Letter as 'Picturesque Protest'

Washington, August 8.—American officials from President Coolidge down regard the debt funding agreements as entirely in the hands of congress now and it has been repeatedly stated by these officials that no modifications will be proposed.

Former Premier Clemenceau's open letter to President Coolidge, while regarded as a picturesque contribution to French protests, adds no new argument and does not change the opinion of American officials in any way.

A few days ago it was intimated in an official quarter here that France never can hope to stabilize her currency until she receives outside help. So far as America is concerned, such help is conditioned entirely on France's ratification of the debt. Once France signifies her intention to pay what was agreed upon, this government will withdraw its objections to the making of private loans and France's condition could be rapidly improved, it is believed here.

There is no indication that the administration will reopen the debt discussions so long as the French agreement is pending in congress.

Commenting upon Clemenceau's letter Congressman William Oldfield, Arkansas, chairman of the democratic congressional campaign committee, said tonight, "I greatly sympathize with the French government and the French people. The American people and the French people are very closely concerned with each other and the governments should be equally as concerned, but I cannot feel that the United States would be justified in either canceling the debt or granting any more lenient terms."

"The Mellon-Berenger agreement must be regarded as more than a commercial agreement. It is generous to the disadvantage of American voters. I cannot but feel that the American government and the congress of the United States have been very generous with France in the settlements, inasmuch as we canceled almost 50 per cent of her debts. I do not think we are morally obliged to show any more consideration."

STATE IS PROBING BANKING RECORDS IN "CHOIR" CASE

Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall Throws Open Her Accounts to Scrutiny of Special Prosecutor.

New Brunswick, N. J., August 8.—Investigating charges that wealth had impeded justice in the first inquiry into the Hall-Mills murder, accountants were at work today on a transcript of the bank accounts and monthly statements of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall.

Mrs. Hall, at liberty in bail of $15,000 on charge of murder in connection with the shooting of her husband, the Rev. Dr. Edward W. Hall, and his choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, four years ago, voluntarily directed her bank to throw open her accounts to the scrutiny of the special prosecutor, State Senator Simpson.

Her action was taken after the bank refused to permit an agent for the state to check up her accounts. Senator Simpson, however, denied sending the agent to the bank in connection with his investigation of alleged "influences" at work since the murders.

When the matter was referred to Mrs. Hall, she at once conferred with her attorneys and at their request they wrote the special prosecutor offering any information he desired on Mrs. Hall's finances, with the provision that she be not publicly named.

Peter Tumulty, gardener, chauffeur for the Hall family at the time of the murders in 1922, was questioned by the senator and his aids as to Tumulty's real estate transactions since the crime. He testified that he had purchased his present home near that of Mrs. Hall from the proceeds of the sale of two small pieces of property he owned prior to 1922.

Mother of Mrs. Coolidge Brings Pies To President

TOURISTS GENEROUS IN CHURCH COLLECTION

Plymouth, Vt., August 8.—(AP)—Hundreds of tourists motored to Plymouth today, attracted by the presence of President Coolidge at the old farm homestead. They mingled with natives in lines held back by secret service men and guards while Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge passed the day quietly at their home, sitting much of the time on the porch in full view of the public.

Mrs. Almira Goodhue, mother of Mrs. Coolidge, who occupies the Coolidge home at Northampton, Mass., came for a visit today, bringing a number of pies and other things to eat.

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge will return tomorrow to the summer white house at Paul Smith's, N. Y.

Late in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge visited the grave of their son, Calvin, in the cemetery here.

In the afternoon many of the tourists gained admittance to the Union church across the street from the Coolidge home for the first services held there for several weeks and with

Two Persons Dying, 20 Others Injured, In Sunday Crashes

Ten Accidents Bring Worst Toll of Sunday Highways in Many Weeks, Say Police.

1 MAN NEAR DEATH NOT YET IDENTIFIED

Negro Drives Car Into Limited Train—Slippery Highways Cause Overturning of Motor Bus.

Two persons are dying and 20 others were more or less seriously injured Sunday in one of the worst waves of accidents that has swept the city in months.

One of the men who is dying at Grady hospital is unidentified and the second is a negro, whose machine was struck by a fast passenger train at Lee street and Campbellton road. Ten accidents occurred in various parts of the city and suburbs and many persons miraculously escaped death. Seven were hurt in one accident in College Park. Automobiles figured in all accident reports at police headquarters and hospitals.

The man whose identity has not been learned sustained a fractured skull and internal injuries when his machine collided with one driven by A. H. Edmiston, of 140 Greenwood place, Decatur, at Simpson street and Sunset avenue, according to police. Edmiston was cut about the left leg and received minor bruises and cuts.

Not Expected To Live.

The unidentified man was rushed to Grady hospital where doctors worked desperately to save his life. He is not expected to live, it was stated at the hospital.

According to reports filed by Call Officers J. E. McDaniel and J. A. Brown, who investigated the accident, the unidentified man was driving east on Simpson street and on the left hand side of the street. As he approached Sunset avenue his machine crashed into the Edmiston car, which was going west on Simpson street.

Officers reported that the injured man was driving a car without a license number. He had no means of identification about him and police began at once an investigation to establish his identity. Hospital officials were asked to hold the man if he recovered and officers stated that a

Chicago Girl Is Missing In Caucasus

Foster Parents of Miss Eastman Stationed in Atlanta During 1925.

Constantinople, August 8.—(AP)—Americans arriving here from the Caucasus bring reports of the disappearance in Russian Armenia of Miss Evelyn Eastman, Near East relief worker, daughter of Harry A. Eastman, of Chicago.

Miss Eastman, according to the stories, last was seen proceeding on horseback from Leninakan in the direction of Mount Ararat, to visit orphans placed out with villagers who had offered to adopt them. When she failed to return at night, searching parties were organized but without success.

The American consulate in Constantinople says Miss Eastman's registered address is 6148 Kimbark avenue, Chicago, where the records show she has an uncle, the Rev. O. S. Eastman.

WENT TO RUSSIA WITH FOSTER PARENTS.

Chicago, August 8.—(AP)—Evelyn Eastman, 25, Near East relief worker who is reported to have disappeared in Russian Armenia, was in Russia a month ago with her foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. FAMED LIEUTENANT IN WOODWARD GANG WALKS TO LIBERTY

Had Been Brought Here From Prison Farm For Questioning in Donaldson Murder Mystery.

ALL BUT FOUR HELD IN CASE NOW FREED

Hughes Brothers, Pastor and One Other Still Held. Miami Police May Identify Pastor.

Abe Powers, debonair right-hand man of Floyd Woodward, notorious wire-tapping artist, who was brought to Atlanta from the Milledgeville state prison for questioning in connection with the murder of Bert Donaldson, let himself out of the side door of Fulton tower with a stolen key late Sunday afternoon and walked to freedom.

Another interesting turn in the murder investigation came Sunday with a telegram from Chief of Police Quigg, of Miami, in which he requested a detailed description and finger prints of Larry Pastor, driver of the "mystery automobile," which has figured more or less prominently throughout the investigation. The Miami chief wired that they were searching for a man who had operated a bunco game in Miami who fitted descriptions of Pastor given in press accounts. This man also was wanted on an auto theft charge. Most of his victims were women, Chief Quigg wired. The information will be supplied Miami authorities at once, Chief of Police James L. Beavers said.

Release Most Prisoners.

The third development of Sunday in the Donaldson case was the release of all persons—with the exception of the two Hughes brothers, Larry Pastor, and another man, whose name was not available—who have been held for questioning by Solicitor Boykin. No information, further than all but these four had been given their freedom, could be gained regarding this action of the solicitor.

Abe Powers is rated one of the smartest confidence men in the United States. Because of his knowledge of figures and bookkeeping, he was allowed to assist the jailers with their books at the tower. During the three days that he had been there, he was given the run of the jail office downstairs, but a close watch was kept over him. Sunday afternoon, while Joe Schilling, serving in the absence of J. C. Bazemore, head jailer, was engaged in his duties about the tower, Powers located the key to the jail's side entrance. He succeeded in opening the door and making his escape without attracting the attention of anyone. It was explained that while Powers was allowed the privileges of a trusty, he was not permitted to leave the jail, being brought from his cell to the office downstairs to work on the books for a while each day.

His Disappearance Was Discovered a Short Time After He Quietly Slipped Out of the Side Gate into an Alley which Leads to Butler Street, and the alarm was spread to city and county police forces. Several special men from each department were assigned to the hunt.

Is Second Escape.

This is the second time that Powers has escaped while enjoying the privileges of a trusty. About two

The Newspaper Golf Tournament

Some seventy-five newspaper men of Atlanta are now playing a golf tournament. They're having a lot of fun, and a few are playing some snappy golf. But the big thing with most of them is the fun and the outdoor exercise with pleasant companions.

It is, however, significant of the times. Twenty years ago no one profession, trade or society could have mustered enough participants to start a tournament—today they all have them. And there are golf tournaments all summer long in every city for ladies.

People now use their afternoons and evenings for recreation and amusement. While they are serious they are intent. They do their reading in the morning hours—that is the reason for the rising supremacy of the morning paper.

The Constitution goes into more homes in Atlanta and suburbs every day than any other Atlanta newspaper.

KENTUCKY PRIMARY COSTS TWO LIVES

Prestonsburg, Ky., August 8.—(AP)—Two men were killed, another was perhaps fatally wounded and a woman, the widow of one of those killed, was wounded in a gun battle on the campus of the Prestonsburg Institute this afternoon.

The dead: Beverly Mellon, 40 years old, killed instantly.

Jim Mellon, 35, his brother, died of wounds at home here.

The wounded: Ben Layne, 40, perhaps fatally wounded, now in Paintsville hospital.

Mrs. Doll Mellon, widow of Jim Mellon, shot through arm.

moreover because of his firm and determined stand in opposition to Senator Underwood's presidential aspirations on an anti-Union platform and his loyalty and support of William G. McAdoo.

While the Black-Mugger controversy raged, other three candidates—John H. Bankhead, Thomas E. Kilby and James J. Mayfield—were engaged in issuing pre-election statements, each claiming victory.

In the gubernatorial race, four candidates were fighting it out largely on the question of road bonds. Lieutenant Governor Charles S. McDowell, Jr., reputed administration candidate, favors a $75,000,000 highway bond issue. A. G. Patterson favors a pay-as-you-go plan, while A. H. Carmichael and Bibb Graves espouse bond issues of varying sizes.

Graves' Circular Denounced. Graves in his advertisements and speeches charged that the metropolitan press of Alabama opposed him and was endeavoring to favor Al Smith for the democratic nomination for the presidency. He specifically charged that the Birmingham News and the Birmingham Age-Herald and associated newspapers and the Birmingham Post aided Al Smith in the last democratic national convention and suggested that they would continue such support.

The Age-Herald in a formal statement today said, concerning Graves' charges:

"A circular is being distributed throughout Alabama over the name of Bibb Graves, candidate for governor, which falsely asserts that the publisher of the Age-Herald and associated newspapers voted for a resolution in the last democratic convention in expectancy that it would stampede the convention for Al Smith for the presidential nomination. By innuendo, the circular also falsely seeks to create the impression that the Age-Herald and associated newspapers would aid in naming a delegation from Alabama to the next democratic convention in expectancy that it would stampede the convention for Al Smith for the presidential nomination. While obviously these statements will be recognized as false by the readers of these newspapers, who know their policies, yet the circular is so reprehensible in its nature, and is such an unjustifiable, false and vicious attack upon the Age-Herald and associated newspapers that notice must be taken of same.

"The only interpretation that can be placed upon the effort of Bibb Graves to create a false impression with respect to the policies of the Age-Herald is that he seeks to defame newspapers whose support he repeatedly begged for and failed to obtain, by reporting their well-known position of opposition to Al Smith for the presidential nomination."

2 PERSONS DYING, 20 OTHERS INJURED

case of drunk and reckless driving would be docketed against him.

College Park Crash. Names of three of the seven persons hurt in the College Park accident were not learned. Mr. and Mrs. O. E. McConnell, of East Point, were taken to the Atlanta hospital after the accident and Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Coleman, of Hapeville, who were riding with them were treated at Grady hospital.

The accident occurred at Rugby avenue and College Park street and McConnell received a fractured collar bone and a badly bruised and cut right arm. Her husband escaped with minor bruises and cuts but doctors believe he has a sprained back.

Mr. Coleman was X-rayed at Grady hospital for fractured ribs and both he and his wife had their backs sprained in the accident. Mrs. Coleman also sustained a bad wound on the forehead and cuts and bruises about the right side and leg.

Others Apparently Hurt. None of the occupants of the McConnell car were able to tell who was in the other machine. They told doctors that they were apparently injured but failed to obtain their names.

Jack H. Cox, negro, of Nisky lake, sustained fractured skull and wrist, probably die as the result of the accident at Campbellton road and Lee street about 10 o'clock Sunday morning when his light touring car was smashed by the flaming, crack Central of Georgia train, which was out of bounds.

The car was demolished and Cox, with his three small children, were scattered down the track for many yards. One of the little negroes was thrown about fifty feet across the street but escaped with minor injuries.

Drove Into Train. Elaine Baggett, 5, of 129 Clifton avenue, received minor injuries about the head Sunday in an automobile accident, according to reports at Grady hospital. The child was treated at the hospital, but doctors were not told details of the accident and no report of it was filed with police.

Mrs. D. M. Cooksey, 34, of a local hotel, was treated at Grady hospital Sunday for an injured arm, which, she told doctors, was received in an automobile accident. She did not state where the accident happened and police had no report of it.

Bus Turns Over. Miss Inez Rainwater, of near Dallas, Ga., was reported Sunday as resting easily at Davis-Fisher sanitarium, where she was carried Saturday night after having an arm broken when an automobile operating as a bus between Atlanta and Dallas turned over on the Madison and Turner road, near Center Hill.

According to W. L. Denton, of Dallas, who operates the bus line, the accident, which injured three persons, occurred when the bus driven by W. A. Jarmon, attempted to pass a small car, careened and the brakes locked, which caused the car to overturn, landing against a small tree on the roadside.

According to Denton, Miss Helen McGee, of Dallas, suffered cuts on the arm and leg and a fractured leg near Dallas. A man named Camp, of Powder Springs, also was slightly injured and after being given first-aid treatment at Grady hospital left for his home.

Accident Unavoidable. Mr. Denton said the bus contained 11 passengers, and all except Miss Rainwater and Mr. Camp were transferred to another bus and continued to Dallas.

The bus was badly wrecked. Police investigating the accident declared it was unavoidable, Mr. Denton said.

Athens Woman Hurt. Mrs. W. E. Black, of Athens, had her right arm broken when she escaped serious injury about 10 o'clock Sunday morning when the automobile in which she was riding overturned at Central and Trinity streets.

The accident happened at the same place where Assistant Chief of Police C. P. Connolly was seriously hurt several weeks ago. The car which Mr. Cox was driving overturned by the impact of the collision.

Smashes Plate Glass. An accident which did more damage to a building than to her home or driver occurred early Sunday morning in front of the Berry-Collins real estate company offices at 63 North Broad street.

Anglo Mankie, of 307 Richardson street, climbed into his machine and started it without unlocking his steering wheel. The car had been parked with the wheels cut toward the curb and when it was started it dashed through the plate glass door.

Held After Accident. J. J. Cooper, of Bristol, Va., was held at police station Sunday night on a charge of drunk and reckless driving, after an accident at Simpson street and Techwood drive, in which he and P. E. Landry, of 108 Willamson street, were badly shaken up and bruised. Call Officers J. A. Brown and J. E. McDaniel investigating.

Miss Barlow, negro woman, living in the rear of 390 Ponce de Leon avenue, was badly bruised and cut Sunday night when she drove down an automobile at Ponce de Leon avenue and Durant street. The driver of the machine stopped and carried her and her husband to Grady hospital, her husband told Captain A. J. Holcombe. He said he did not obtain the driver's name because of the excitement.

ABE POWERS ESCAPES FROM FULTON JAIL

years ago, he escaped from the grounds of the state prison. He was captured a year later. Powers was sentenced to serve from three to five years in the state prison for being convicted in Fulton superior court for his part in the operations of the million-dollar Woodward syndicate in Atlanta, which Donaldson was instrumental in breaking up. He is an educated man and one of the smoothest confidence artists ever to favor local come-ons with his costly attentions.

He is a man of pleasing personality, and at the time of his activity here, wore a saucy, collar-and-moustache. His sartorial appearance was always faultless and his manner and gift of persuasive conversation was nothing short of awe-inspiring. Of all the Atlanta bunco operators, Abe Powers was the most interesting and picturesque figure.

Some time before the murder, Abe and Donaldson grew to be fast friends and the latter indicated his application for parole from prison before completing the remaining term of his sentence. Solicitor Boykin strenuously opposed his petition and it was denied by the state prison commission. What information Powers might be able to give which would aid in the apprehension of Donaldson's escape was not made known by the solicitor. The fact that he had been brought here from Milledgeville had not been announced, and the news of his escape was the first public information of his presence in Atlanta.

Powers was convicted in Fulton superior court for his operations here as a Woodward associate. He was sentenced to serve from three to five years in the state prison for being convicted in Fulton superior court for his part in the operations of the million-dollar Woodward syndicate in Atlanta, which Donaldson was instrumental in breaking up. He is an educated man and one of the smoothest confidence artists ever to favor local come-ons with his costly attentions.

The fact that he had been brought here from Milledgeville had not been announced, and the news of his escape was the first public information of his presence in Atlanta.

A reward of $2,500 is offered by The Constitution as announced Sunday for the arrest and conviction of the murderer of Donaldson. It is believed that a tip now already in possession of Solicitor Boykin and which, upon being referred to the solicitor, results in the unearthing of evidence that leads to the arrest and conviction of the murderer. The Constitution will pay the reward of $2,500. Any person having the slightest direct information concerning the plot or the murder itself should get in touch with The Constitution immediately. Any information turned over to this paper will be given at once and the man or woman who furnishes the information will be entitled to the lesser rewards from other sources, which, combined with The Constitution reward, now total $7,100.

Trace Pastor Movements. Operatives from the office of Solicitor General Boykin and from the city department were at work Sunday checking up on the activities of Larry Pastor, driver of the mystery automobile which figured more or less prominently in the investigation into the murder. Pastor, who was arrested Saturday, according to detectives, has been unable to give a satisfactory account of his movements the time of the murder and since then.

Call for "John Lake." Mrs. C. G. Kuffrey, 111 Hill street, at whose home Pastor was living at the time of his arrest, talked freely to investigators Sunday. She stated that Pastor took up his residence there Wednesday of last week, following an agreement with her husband that he assist him in his photography business. Pastor was to receive $16 a week and a room, she said.

She told of a telephone call from the Western Union office Thursday when she was informed that the office was holding a telegram for "John Lake." This name, together with Mrs. Kuffrey's telephone number and street address, had been furnished to the Western Union office by informed. Boykin's investigators are now trying to trace other messages which might have come under the name, "John Lake," or other aliases.

Mrs. Kuffrey also told of an incident Friday morning in her home, when she called Pastor's attention to the fact that his name was in the Constitution in connection with an account of the missing "mystery car."

Pastor was "startled" when he saw his name, Mrs. Kuffrey said. He declared, however, "that it couldn't mean him" and declared that he didn't know there were "any other Pastors in Atlanta."

He said he had to look them up," Mrs. Kuffrey said he stated.

Mrs. Kuffrey told investigators that Pastor went Wednesday morning to a downtown hotel to make some pictures for her husband. While standing in front of the hotel, with a man who was assisting him, Mrs. Kuffrey said she was informed a young woman passed and "smiled at him." Pastor shook his head "in the negative," she said, and the young woman passed by.

Several minutes later two young women passed by the same spot, smiled at Pastor, and this time "he shook his head in the affirmative." What importance investigators are going to attach to this incident is not known.

Mrs. Kuffrey called Pastor "the California sheik," after being told about the three young women smiling at him.

Pastor on Friday night telephoned to The Constitution a denial that he had disappeared with a rented automobile from the A. L. Belle Isle company. Later the same night the car was discovered in the Southern Auto Equipment company on Forsyth street. Detectives are carefully tracing his movements since the time of the murder, a week ago last Thursday night.

Reports were current Saturday that detectives were dragging a pond at Jester's Old Mill in the belief that the shotgun used to slay Donaldson had been submerged there by the gunman or his confederates. If this belief is sustained, it will strengthen Mr. Boykin's theory that the murderer was carried from the city in an automobile to board a train some distance from Atlanta.

LANDS PARACHUTE IN LAKEWOOD LAKE FOR SECOND TIME

Accomplishing a second perfect landing in the lake at Lakewood amusement park Sunday afternoon, Jimmy Wilburn, parachute instructor of the McMullen school of aviation, Sunday brought cheer from a crowd of more than 15,000 people who packed the grandstand and the park for a mile around the race track to see the airplane demonstration, the second of a series to end next Sunday.

The landing was effected in spite of a cross current of wind, which struck the parachute about 500 feet below the point at which it was cut loose from the airplane, forcing the parachutist to steer his unwieldy bag by manipulation of the trapeze cords, coming down, swinging from side to side in such large arcs that several times it seemed the parachute might capsize in midair.

The speedboat, "Miss Catherine," driven by Polly Wilburn, winner of several events in the fourth of July regatta at Lakewood, reached the parachutist in less than a minute after he touched water, before the struggle to keep afloat with a bad arm, hurt last Sunday, had exhausted him.

The Royal Purple Elks' band played a program selected from more than 900 special requests made two weeks ago, including "Poet and Peasant" overture, Luder's light opera, "King Dodo," Strauss' waltz, "Blue Danube," Weldon's Gate City, Atlanta, march, and selections from recent Irving Berlin song hits.

Nothing Is Heard Of Deputy Collector Who Left Jefferson

Jefferson, Ga., August 8.—(Special.)—Nothing has been heard since of George E. Smith, 55, deputy tax collector of Jackson county, who left Jefferson on Saturday, July 31. No reason for the disappearance of Smith is given, but it is expected that auditors will begin work on the books in his office this week.

Smith's wife and three children are still in Jefferson.

The company which bonded the deputy collector has offered a reward for the apprehension of Smith, who is described as being a heavy chequer of tobacco and to have only one arm.

Science To Bare Secrets of Life, Lodge Predicts

Oxford, England, August 8.—Answers to the questions "What is God?" and "Is death the end of man?" will be heard at the next meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, Sir Oliver Lodge, noted scientist, has predicted in a sermon at Manchester college chapel.

Many delegates attending the annual meeting of the British association of work at the end of the month, when he declared that scientists are on the verge of discovery of the secrets of life.

A meeting of the association man will find himself in the same position as a savage entering a new race of white men," Sir Oliver said.

TEXTILE INDUSTRY IN RIO JANEIRO IS FACING CRISIS

Rio Janeiro, Brazil, August 8.—(AP)—The position of the Sao Paulo textile industry continues critical. Three thousands mill hands will be thrown out of work at the end of the month when the Brazilian company expects to suspend until able to sell large stocks of textiles which apparently it cannot unload at the present reduced value of the mill.

The crisis is traceable to the sudden arrival of foreign made goods, due to the automatic lowering of the tariff wall.

WAYCROSS LIGHT PLANT MAKES IMPROVEMENTS

Waycross, Ga., August 8.—(Special.)—The $250,000 improvements to the Ware County Light and Power company here have been completed with the exception of the installation of 500-horsepower boiler. It is expected that on January 1 the completion of the hydroelectric line from Florida to Waycross will add 6,000 kilowatts to the local plant.

Jepp recently sold its light and power plant to the Ware County Light and Power company and the first improvements to the plant are being made.

The body has been sent to Atlanta for interment.

Lack of 'Brains' Will Trap Tracy, Asserts Sheriff

Orlando, Fla., August 8.—(AP)—Confidence was expressed today by Sheriff Frank Farmer of Osceola county that Joe Tracy, member of the Ashley gang, who escaped from officers here was leading to a mythical pot of gold in the Everglades, last week, would soon be back in the hands of authorities to continue serving his 90-year sentence for the slaying of a negro taxi driver.

Sheriff Farmer declared Tracy lacked "brains" and that he would be unable to escape the trap that has been laid for him by officers all along the coast and sections bordering the Everglades that sheltered him for many years while he operated with the Ashley band.

Tracy escaped from the residence at St. Cloud, Fla., of a friend whom officers had allowed him to visit while in custody of a guard. They were returning from the point in the Everglades where Tracy told them he was to be found; told of thousands of dollars, consisting of stolen bonds.

Instead of the valuable bonds, it was reported here, officers found several personal letters and a worthless check at the cache.

Sheriff Farmer said his officers had been recalled from the swamp lands and added that so sure was he that Tracy would be captured on his first emergence from his hiding place that he was not going to send a second expedition after him.

What Ice Was Yesterday It Is Today and Will Be Tomorrow

SAFE

Generations of use have proved ICE to be a true "Safety First, Last and All the Time" Cold Maker. Within its crystal depths no danger lurks, even to tiny toddlers quick to explore the family refrigerator when free for the moment from mother's watchful care.

ICE is the simplest, safest form of cold making energy. It works without the aid of chemicals or gases, of pipes, coils, valves or springs. ICE needs nothing to make it do its duty.

ECONOMICAL

Put ICE on a strict dollars and cents basis, compare it item by item with any mechanical-chemical device, if you would know how little it takes and how much it gives. ICE is the silent, economical servant that can be summoned when needed and dismissed when not. With ICE, you pay for refrigeration only at such times as your desires and the weather require it.

ICE, unlike all other methods of cold making, can be employed or discharged at one's own sweet pleasure. It is a trifling day by day expense—never a continuous, large investment.

SURE

Nothing can possibly "happen" to ICE that would cause it to cease working. Both by day and by night, either in the sleeping home or closed-up, deserted shop, it never falters, never fails. Perishable foods entrusted to its faithful care are certain to be in the same perfect condition "next morning" as they were the "night before"—or for as long a time as common sense tells one such foods should be kept.

ICE SERVICE

Your iceman, co-partner of this safe, economical, sure product, is ready "at your door" to serve you daily, every other day, as often or as seldom as you desire. HIS service is ALL the service ICE requires. Remember, too, this comforting thought:

The well-iced refrigerator assures a bountiful supply of sparkling "frozen purity" for every emergency—sickness in the home, unexpected guests, impromptu "parties"—so popular these days!

ON EVERY HOT DAY

100,000 families in Greater Atlanta rely on ICE to safely keep their food fresh, wholesome and ready for the table. ICE never has, nor will it, ever, betray the confidence placed in it as a safe, economical, dependable refrigerator.

'Minimum Comfort' Salary Urged by Federal Council

Washington, August 8.—A "minimum comfort wage" is urged by the Federal Council of Churches in a labor message today outlining the church's stand on the wage question.

"The churches stand for the principle that the first charge upon industry must be at least a minimum comfort wage," the message said. "The churches can never be content until they see the achievement of an intelligent control over our economic life which will make possible a living wage to every worker. The right to life must be the paramount right."

Unless there is a spirit of good will based on social justice, a suicidal conflict will result, the message said. All member churches were urged to study the human issues in the industrial struggle.

"The churches stand for the supremacy of service, rather than the profit motive in the acquisition and use of property on the part of both labor and capital."

"The churches stand for the conception of ownership as a social trust," it was stated. "The fact of possession involves the obligation to use such possessions for the good of all. The man who seeks to secure a return from society without making an adequate contribution comes under the condemnation of the increasingly enlightened conscience of our time. The insistence upon personal rights must give way to the higher insistence upon social ends."

"The churches stand for the safeguarding of youth. Child labor in its technical industrial sense must be abolished, and the rights of the child protected. Laws are needed, but laws are not enough. The churches stand for a systematic building up of a body of legislative enactment which will prevent the exploitation of weakness and youth.

"The churches stand for the protection of the leisure of men and women. They hold the principle that all workers should be insured freedom from employment one day in seven, and that hours of labor for all workers be reduced to a work day which leaves time and vitality for the larger interests of life."

Lawrenceville Camp Meeting Opens Today; Training Course Added

Lawrenceville, Ga., August 8.—(Special.)—The camp meeting, which begins Monday, August 9, promises to be one of the most interesting and enjoyable that this section has ever experienced.

The camp ground, is nearly 100 years old and the 60 acres of land was donated for such purposes by one of the pioneer citizens of Lawrenceville. During the war between the states it was used as a training ground for the soldiers, and shortly after the surrender, it was destroyed by fire, but was soon rebuilt.

The preachers who will take part in the meetings this year are Rev. W. L. Pierce, presiding elder; Rev. R. Z. Tyler, pastor of Emory university; Rev. Z. L. Bray, Atlanta; Rev. Homer Thompson, Atlanta; Rev. W. S. Norton, Warrenton, and Rev. Marvin Franklin, of Barnesville. Rev. J. M. Tumlin, local Methodist pastor, will have charge of the services. Rev. C. W. Fruit, pastor of Loganville, will be in charge of the singing.

An added feature during the week will be the standard training course. There are 21 tents on the ground and all will be occupied, it is said. Everybody is cordially invited to visit this historical old camp ground.

COLORS EVANGELIST IN CLOSING SERMON

Dr. R. O. Langford, Monroe, N. C., a well-known evangelist for the colored Methodist church, preached his closing sermon in Holley temple, C. M. E. church on North Boulevard, Rev. G. H. Carter, pastor, last night. He urged that if we desire to break up crime such as the "bunch gang," we must have the religion and teachings of Jesus Christ put into the lives of these children. Such atrocious murders as that of Bert Donaldson right in one of the leading hotels is only a sign of the times.

"The old time fire must be put into the pulpit, in the home and in the meetings that we conduct from time to time. Mothers should teach their children to join the church and live the life of Christians. Many of the children and young people indulge into the frivolous because it is popular. Many join these bands of criminals because mothers have been slack in the matter of giving them proper instruction in the more serious things of life. They give them over to the gay and fast set when they are young and when they know anything they find them full-grown criminals. We must make our churches stand for the very best things in life."

Gregory Appears Kentucky Winner In Fifth District

Louisville, August 8.—(AP)—Further returns today from the first district indicated that W. Voris Gregory, Mayfield, had won the democratic nomination for congress by a narrow margin in yesterday's primary. Garth K. Ferguson, his closest opponent, refused, however, to concede his success and declared it would take an official count to determine the winner. Gregory claimed victory by 300 plurality.

Henry Delaven Mooreman, in the Fourth district; Congressman M. H. Thatcher, republican, in the Fifth and Mrs. John W. Langley, republican in the Tenth, won easily in the only other districts where the contests were "warm" enough to interest a generally apathetic electorate.

Mrs. Langley waged an intensive campaign for "judication" of her husband, the former congressman who resigned when he began serving a 2-year sentence in prison for conspiracy to violate the prohibition law. She made more than 100 speeches during the two months campaign. Mrs. Langley said she was "extremely happy" over her "victorious" majorities and great victory. She will succeed A. J. Kirk, who is serving the unexpired term of her husband.

The primary was one of the quickest in many years and the vote unusually light. The only report of disorder received here was that Amos McGrew, 28, of Stockhom, Edmonson county, was stabbed in the neck, back and left arm in an argument with Lawson Wilson, also of Stockhom. McGrew's condition was said to be serious.

NEGRO EDITOR TALKS ON CRIME SITUATION

The Rev. J. A. Martin, editor Sunday school literature for the colored C. M. E. church, Nashville, Tenn., preached at West Mitchell C. M. E. church this morning upon the "Crime Wave in Our Country." His text was from Mat. 23, chapter 10 and 20 verses. The speaker urged that Jesus' utterance: "Teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost, teaching them to observe all things whatsoever and lo, I am with you always," is inclusive of every particle of the high, ethical standards that regulate human conduct to that degree that gives us a safe world. This is an age of teaching and we must begin early about it.

"Can we conceive of God's church allowing two-thirds of the common school population of the children to rove the streets upon the Sabbath? In every city where we have 1,000 children enrolled in the public schools, we have more than 400 who are not touched with Sunday school teaching from year in and year out," said Rev. Martin.

"The slaying of Bert Donaldson is but the beginning of greater crime waves if we allow our children to rove the streets and to go wild on auto rides," he added.

TWO BABIES EAT METALLIC MEALS; TAKEN TO GRADY

Sunday was a bad day for eating—or it was for two youngsters who had to be treated at Grady hospital.

One ate a prize out of a box and the other swallowed a nickel. Both meals proved unsavory and the boys were taken to the hospital to have them extracted.

John Whitehead, 4, of 967 Sells avenue, swallowed the nickel and it choked him. Doctors said it lodged in his esophagus and they took an esophagoscope, the pronunciation of which would choke a normal person, ran it down his throat and picked the nickel out.

The other boy to take a curious meal was A. C. Butler, Jr., 2 years old, of 580 Middle street. He ate a metallic prize out of a prize box, and had to be treated at the hospital. The prize was located but it was not removed and the child was kept at the hospital for observation.

TOBACCO WAREHOUSES ACTIVE AT AINBRIDGE

Bainbridge, Ga., August 8.—(Special.)—Being the only town in Georgia that has warehouses for both cigar and cigarette tobaccos, Bainbridge is in the midst of an unusually busy and active season.

Merchants in the retail business are putting on good sales up town making the general business of the city the greatest in years. Unusual interest centered here last week because of this being a market for the delivery of two kinds of the weed.

N. C. Crafton, manager of the Bainbridge warehouse for bright tobacco, was busy with sales of the weed while S. M. Ottinger, of Philadelphia, was busy receiving shares of tobacco at the Lester Friedman warehouse at the opposite part of town.

This market handled its share of bright tobacco throughout the Bainbridge belt, it is said, and was satisfaction on prices on almost every sale. The shade tobacco warehouse received cigar tobacco from Leon and Gaiselso counties, Florida and Grady and DeKalb counties of Georgia. Farmers are expressing themselves as being well pleased with the business this year as a whole and buyers are said to be very much pleased with the offerings of the first week.

This week is expected to be better than the first week in prices on better grade bright tobacco.

CARSWELL SPEAKS AT CRAWFORDVILLE

Expect Sell Out For Whole Week Of Merry Widow

"Saving the best for the last," as townsmen are wont to remark, appears to be the public's estimate of the policy of the Municipal Opera association. Certainly it must have been the opinion of thousands of theatergoers who stood in line for some hours in front of the box office to buy tickets for "The Merry Widow."

Whether it is because it is the last production of the season, or because "The Merry Widow" is the most popular light opera of the generation, or for both of these reasons, the demand for seats has far exceeded that of any previous production, even the "Chocolate Soldier," which opened the season eight weeks ago.

There still are seats to be had, but it is not unlikely that every one will be taken and the ticket racks swept clean within the first two or three days of this week.

It will mark the farewell—for this season—of the principals and ballet and chorus who have made so many friends this summer in the seven weeks of entertainment given by Atlanta's own company at the Atlanta theater. In "The Merry Widow" will appear all of the favorites of the season, with the exception of Lou Powers, for the cast is a large one, and several Atlanta folk, members of the "ensemble," will be promoted to speaking roles. Louise Hunter and Vera Myers both will appear, the prima donna as Sonia, and Miss Myers in the dual role of Sylvane and Phil. Mr. Templeman will be Danilo; Mr. Burckley will play the tenor role; Jefferson d'Angelis will have his famous part of Mr. Nish, and Lew Morton, the stage director, promises the greatest production of the season.

Competition.

"That my boy," said the forger of coins to his son as they passed the mint, "is my principal competitor."

VOLUME OF TOBACCO SOLD AT WAYCROSS SHOWS GREAT GAIN

Waycross, Ga., August 8.—(Special.)—The Waycross tobacco market paid out to the tobacco growers last week more than eight times as much as was paid to them the first week of the 1925 market. The amount for 1925 was $10,107.72, while the amount for 1926 was $89,065.72.

The record in pounds is equally fine. During the first week of the 1925 market Waycross sold 65,282 pounds while during the first week of the 1926 market there was sold 361,920 pounds or more than five times as much.

In the average price per pound for the first week a gain of over nine cents is shown, the average price for the first week in 1925 being 15.4 cents and the average price for the first week in 1926, 24.76.

Waycross had one warehouse in 1925 and two this season but as is shown by the records in every instance more than twice as good.

Waycross is proud of the results for the first week and is looking forward to an exceptionally successful season.

The union is said to be in splendid condition financially and otherwise and reports of interest are expected from the various executive officers.

Mexico in Clash With Colombia On Religious Law

Bogota, Colombia, August 8.—(Re-triving President Rengifo, of the Colombian senate, speaking at the inauguration of Miguel Abadía as president of Colombia, has sharply criticized the Mexican government's religious policy and has drawn the immediate criticism of M. Urquidí, special Mexican ambassador.

Ambassador Urquidí has stated he will refrain from any statement regarding Rengifo's utterances, but that he considers the incident grave, because the statements were made in his presence. He will consult his own government immediately regarding the attitude he shall pursue. Rengifo is retiring from his position in the senate to become minister of war.

Immediately following his inauguration President Abadía, who was recently elected, announced the following conservative cabinet:

Minister of the Interior—Jorge Velez.
Minister of Foreign Relations—J. de Gomez Recero.
Minister of War—Ignacio Rendón, giron.
Minister of Industries—Salvador Franco.
Minister of Public Instruction—Jesus Garcia.
Minister of Mails and Telegraphs—Silvino Rodriguez.

War Debt Negotiations Are Considered Closed By President Coolidge

Representative Crisp, Member of Debt Commission, Declares Terms Given France Are Most Liberal.

Plymouth, Vt., August 8.—(AP)—The position of President Coolidge is that the negotiations relative to war-time debt owed by France to the United States are closed.

President Coolidge was informed to-night through press dispatches of the open letter from Premier Clemenceau addressed to him on the war debt and it was indicated that his attitude was that the Washington government intends to conduct its relations with the French people on all questions through their duly constituted diplomatic authorities.

Any further outline of the views of the chief executive toward the Clemenceau letter was unavailable.

For some time, however, it has been made clear that Mr. Coolidge considers the debt funding authority to have passed from the American debt commission once it has concluded negotiations and has transmitted to congress for ratification agreements entered into with foreign governments.

It was pointed out in this connection only recently that Secretary Mellon of the treasury department had no authority as head of that department to act during his visit to Europe on war debt problems, and while he has authority as head of the American debt commission to negotiate on the debts, in actual fact his authority in this respect largely has been exhausted under the law creating the commission through the settlements the commission had accepted.

Only two or three debts with foreign governments remain to be acted on, all are relatively small amounts. That with Greece is the most important and is for only a few million dollars.

Except for the settlement with France, all funding agreements reached have been ratified by the legislature of parliament of the respective countries.

The French debt settlement yet is to be approved by the French parliament and by the American senate. The American house already has approved it.

TERMS GIVEN FRANCE LIBERAL, CRISP SAYS—“America's terms for settling the French debt are very liberal, and as a member of the American debt funding commission I never will vote to reduce the debt,” Representative Crisp (Crisp, of Georgia, told the United States House of Representatives today.

“Of course I can't speak for the president, but I feel sure he will take no action toward reducing the French debt.”

Crisp declared France and England are attempting to “saddle the entire war debt” on the United States. “England says she is willing to cancel France's debt to her if the United States will cancel the English debt. Certainly she would. She would lose nothing by doing so. But the American taxpayers would.”

Commenting on the widespread report in France and America that the French government is planning to cancel the American debt, Crisp said:

“The feeling against America in France undoubtedly has been brought about by the constant changing of governments, and by speeches of French politicians against paying of the war debt.”

Representative Crisp said he was confident former Premier Clemenceau's note to President Coolidge would result in a change in the American government's attitude.

President Calvin Coolidge, asking for tolerance in regard to the French debt to the United States.

At times, however, at times pleading, the letter of France's leader in the world war declares that France is “not for sale” and warns that she will not sacrifice her freedom for the payment of debts.

Her country will never mortgage her territories for a loan, Clemenceau declared.

He arraigns America for making a separate peace with Germany. “Clemenceau—again almost ‘The Tiger’—intimates that France will fight desperately to save herself from being crushed by ‘combined blows of her enemies and friends.’”

“We found her independent,” he declares in his letter to the American president, “and independent we will leave her.”

Addresses Coolidge.—The text of Clemenceau's letter is as follows: “My President: ‘There have arisen between the three great countries of the allied and associated powers in the war of France differences of opinion regarding settlement which threaten seriously to affect the future of the civilized world.’

“Everywhere the technicians of finance and diplomacy are at work. The technician is often a man who likes to isolate his problem from those of others, and with which he is engaged. All things are linked with public affairs and he who seeks to remain exclusively in his own domain exposes himself to discover too late that he is overwhelmed.”

“Between the United States and England, between France and the United States, the same question exists in identical terms and I see that the solutions tried out and preparations for solution have not created a proper state of mind in the interested countries.”

“We are debtors and you are creditors. It would seem that this was purely a question of the cash register. Are there not other considerations to take into account?”

“The European policy has thus far been specially to hold in check the peoples of the continent and to line them up one against another for the proper moment of intervention.”

“I am confident that the eyes of the man in the street are opening. He is seeing more clearly today.”

with a safe mortgage on our territories, like Turkey.”

“That, Mr. President, it is necessary that I frankly tell you, we will never accept.”

“France is not for sale—not even to her friends. We inherited her independence and independence we will leave her. Ask yourself, if in the light of President Monroe, you seek any other fate for the American continent.”

“If France must disappear under the blows of her enemies and her friends’ combined, there will remain of her proud name no hint that we have done anything which was not strictly our duty.”

“Must we cede our citadels to Germany? Must we cede them to them? Any rise to say we have done other than to submit to the inevitable? Will Verlain say we fought poorly?”

“For three months we awaited the stroke from America. ‘France is the frontier of liberty.’ For three years money and blood ran from all our pores.”

“Come read in our villages lists of the names of our dead and compare, if you wish.”

Becomes Sarcastic.—Here Clemenceau became sarcastic. “The living force of this lost youth is not in the accounts of bankers.”

“Like Russia and America, Germany made a separate peace with the president, and now arranging an adjustment with her companions in arms—the peace of blood with a common enemy.”

“Today we are thinking of a money peace between the allied and associated powers. How was it that we did not see what was coming? Why was it that we did not stop, under the fighting, to convene a conference of the profiteers which would decide if they would allow us to continue to fight for the most beautiful history?”

“I have spoken freely to the honored chief of a free people for whom for 50 years I have kept my best respect and my friendship because I believed that this people was destined to carry on higher and higher the flame of the great ideal of humanity. It is for this people I am justifying myself, not only for the supreme homage—my silence if I am mistaken.”

“I pray you, Mr. President, to accept the homage of my profound respect.”

BERENGER-MELLON AGREEMENT CONDEMNED—Paris, August 8.—(AP)—“Old Father Victory” has again come to the defense of France in her hour of trouble.

Georges Clemenceau, war-time premier, appealed to President Coolidge, in an open letter published today, not to treat the settlement of war debts as a purely commercial transaction.

“The Berenger-Mellon debt agreement he asserted to be impossible of fulfillment and to threaten the independence of France.”

“The spirited appeal of ‘The Tiger,’ who will be 85 years old next month, came with dramatic unexpectedness at a moment when the French government is hesitating before taking a definite position on the ratification of the proposed agreement. Midday editions of the afternoon papers gave the letter prominent display.”

Negotiations Denounced.—The Franco-American negotiations leading to promises of payment, the former premier declared, are impossible of fulfillment because they would result in a loan “with solid security in the shape of our territorial possessions, as was the case for Turkey.”

He warned President Coolidge that France will never accept such a thing. “If France is not for sale to the Americans,” he said, “independent we shall leave her.”

For once, “The Tiger” apparently has taken off the famous gray gloves of his diplomacy. He tartly compared the separate peace treaty made by the United States with Germany to the separate treaty made by Russia at Brest-Litovsk during the war.

Both were made, he charged, without the slightest attempt, “to adjust matters with their comrades in arms.”

“After making a blood peace with the common enemy,” he said, “to let a money peace be devised with the allied and associated powers.”

M. Clemenceau entreated President Coolidge not to consider the war debts as purely cash transactions between creditor and debtor to be settled by technical experts. Our attitude, he said, had made France uneasy today.

DRUID HILLS CLUB IS BURGLARIZED

A hold forth on the fashionable Druid Hills Golf club house by burglars Sunday night netted a large quantity of expensive cigars and cigarettes.

Entry was gained to the building by cutting a screen in the basement, and so noiselessly did the burglars work that W. H. Barnett, manager, was not aroused and the nightwatchman did not discover them.

The store of S. C. Williams, of 1663 Gordon street, was burglarized and $15 in money and a quantity of cigars, cigarettes and chewing gum was stolen. Call Officers H. A. Hardy and Claude Carroll investigated.

Call Officers W. H. Dodd and J. L. Hughes were called to investigate a burglary of the St. George Soda company, of 184 Ivy street, where $40 worth of cigars were taken. The burglars were frightened away by a passerby, the officers reported.

SIN NO BARRIER FOR SALVATION, RADER DECLARES—A man doesn't have to be good, or even respectable, to be saved through faith in Christ, Rev. Luke Rader, minister and pastor of Central Baptist church, told an audience at the overflowed church for the Sunday night service, opening the third week of the revival campaign being waged by Luke and Ralph Rader.

The disciples of Christ, he said, were picked from the lowest order of the society of the time; men of no education, no wealth and men who had been about as rotten morally as any 12 he could have found.

“He picked that sort of men as His disciples and as the first champions of the new faith in order to encourage all men of future times, even as you and I, to know that He can work wonders with any material, however poor it seems, and to accept the salvation He came to bring,” Mr. Rader declared.

The services Sunday night were held in Central Baptist church, overcast skies and occasional sprinkles of rain preventing use of the new revival sidewalk on Forsyth street, opposite the Whitehall intersection. Mr. Rader stated that he expected to hold the Tuesday night service in the air dome. No service will be held Monday night, but the daily prayer meeting will be held at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

EARTH TREMOR FELT BY CALIFORNIANS—Ventura, Cal., August 8.—(AP)—An earth tremor of three-second duration was felt here at 8:40 o'clock tonight. The shock, of sufficient force to shake crockery on closet shelves and swinging chandeliers, was accompanied by a rumbling sound.

Ten Drowned As Undertow Hits Bathers

Buffalo, N. Y., August 8.—(AP)—Ten young persons were drowned tonight at Brant beach when an undertow caught a party of bathers and carried them out into deep water. Five of them were unable to swim.

Brant beach is on the south shore of Lake Erie, about 30 miles from Buffalo.

A telephone message received from Medical Examiner Danzer at 11:30 o'clock tonight said that six bodies had been recovered. After checking the reports of missing bathers, Dr. Danzer said it was probable that the death list would reach eleven.

Brant beach is a short distance from the municipal bathing beach. The undertow at this point always has been treacherous and warnings against it are posted.

An official list of the drownings follows: Elmer Henry, 9, Kenmore; Yvette Henry, his brother, 21; John Augustine, 21, of Buffalo; Holnie Castens, 30, Farnham; Elida Timmerman, 17, Farnham; Howard Timmerman, his brother, 18; Anna Lange, 20, Silver Creek; Glenn Bronson, 17, of Brant; Gladys Bronson, her sister, 15; an unidentified woman about 25 years old.

SLAYER NOW KNOWN AS ‘MAN OF ICE’—Seattle, Wash., August 8.—Whether “the man of ice,” Wallace C. Gaines, accused of slaying his daughter, Sylvia, will melt under the responsibility of assuming the offensive in his own defense will come out this week.

Reserved and sardonically perfect at all times while in custody, and during the trial, which is now entering its second week, Gaines has impressed everyone with his almost frozen calm.

While attorneys first wrangled over selection of jurors, and later, when damning circumstantial evidence was being heaped up, Gaines sat with seldom a change of position.

Even when a prospective juror said it would require more than the ordinary amount of evidence to convince him that any father could kill his daughter, Gaines was unimpressed over a point so strongly in his own favor.

His wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Gaines, sits through court days at his side, as unperturbed as he.

Before court opens tomorrow, bringing closer the opening of his defense, it may be assumed that Gaines will rise as he has ever since he has been in jail, proclaiming under question that he slept well and then he will dress with the same fastidious care that he has shown before.

JOINT DEBATE REPORT UNTRUE, SAYS UPSHAW

Declaring that it was “a case of the field against Upshaw,” Congressman W. D. Upshaw issued a statement Sunday night in which he said the announcement that he would meet Walter A. Sims, candidate for congress from the fifth district, in joint debate at Howell park Monday night was “unwarranted.”

“I cannot attend the watermelon cutting at Howell park Monday night,” Mr. Upshaw stated. “I have another engagement. If my opponents wish to enter a joint debate, let them appoint a date and hour and I will gladly meet them in orderly procedure. It is a clear case of the field against Upshaw, and if we have a sort of joint discussions—discussions which really cover—they must give me a fair chance to meet the field. This is logical. From information coming to my headquarters from all sides I am too far in the lead in this contest to be taking part in sideshows with one man. I want to meet both of my opponents in a three-ring circus.”

Congressman Upshaw spoke Sunday night to the congregation at the Grant Park Baptist church on the subject, “The Life Beautiful.”

Study Planned At 2 Colleges—New York, August 8.—(AP)—Leland Stanford university, of Palo Alto, Cal., and the California Institute of Technology, at Pasadena, have been awarded grants totaling $600,000 by the Daniel Guggenheim fund for the promotion of aeronautics, it was announced today.

At Stanford it is planned to establish an experimental laboratory for aerodynamics and aeronautical engineering and to extend the aeronautics course to six years with the support of the income from $300,000 provided in the award.

Experimental researches which have been carried on for ten years are planned to be enlarged to embrace many phases of air conditions and structural design and construction of aircraft. A few fellowships are expected to be made.

The gift of approximately $300,000 to the technical institute will be used as a basis for the establishment of a graduate school of aeronautics, it was announced. It also will provide for the extension of the aeronautics course, the perfection of the Stagger-Duralac engine, the establishment of research, fellowships and a new school for the building and testing of models and full-sized gliders and power planes.

A school of aeronautics at New York university was established by the Guggenheim fund last year.

‘Tiger of France’ Believes Country Needs His Help

CLEMENCEAU SEEN AS SAVIOR OF PEOPLE—BY DUKE N. FARRY—New York, August 8.—“If you ever need me,” former Premier Georges Clemenceau told a group of Frenchmen shortly after his retirement to the Vendee town of St. Hermin in 1921, “you will find me here, on my sand dunes, besides my pine woods.”

The bushy haired “Tiger of France,” who talked American, not English, during the latter days of the world war and who is perhaps best known of all living Frenchmen, apparently feels that France needs him, and he has returned in a startling way.

His personal appeal to President Coolidge for a different type of American debt settlement with France marks his second prominent appearance since the war, the first being a tour of the United States in 1922, and that time also pleaded French inability to pay. Frequently he has been urged to talk but usually he has answered: “I could say a lot that would make a lot of trouble, but what's the use?”

In France during the latter days of the war, he was looked upon as one of France's two saviors, Joan of Arc, of course, being the first. American soldiers became acquainted with his name soon after their arrival, for the French girls sang a song ending with praise for “Pershing, French and Clemenceau.”

He had been in America as a youth, had been a doctor and a journalist, and had returned to France to become the most dominating and powerful statesman of the darkest period of French history. He knew America, and his language while colloquial much of the time, seemed to appeal to Americans. When the war was over he was a stern victor and he points with no shame as his doing, to the Treaty of Versailles, which the Germans call unjust.

He has returned to enter the Franco-American financial discussion, because he feels that the French debt to the United States is an unbroken chapter of the war. His declaration that “France is not for sale” is in keeping with his demands made then he served, along with the late President Wilson, at the Paris peace commissioners' meeting, namely that France be guaranteed the fruits of the victor of the struggle, which had drained the blood and treasure of the land. He insisted during the formation of that document that France could regain her rights with it, provided it were proper. Used.

Clemenceau's appeal may be expected to increase the already strong feeling in France against the Mellon-Berenger agreement and to give the French stand against the settlement more prominence throughout the world than it has had at any previous time.

Now that he has chosen to enter the fight, Clemenceau may be expected to stay in it, as he stayed in the war after he took power in 1917.

The “Tiger” is in the debt fight now, but French opinion points out that he considers himself in an argument with his former comrades in arms, not with his enemies. Indications are that the Tiger, once more out of his lair and fighting for a principle in which is involved one of the most determined stands of his life, will be heard from until a Franco-American debt agreement more favorable to France is finally signed.

FIVE ARE KILLED WHEN AUTOMOBILE IS HIT BY TRAIN

Buffalo, August 8.—(AP)—Five men were killed when their automobile was struck by the westbound Ohio Limited train on the New York Central railroad near Williamsville early today. The victims were Roy Dope and his brother, Arthur Dope, of Snyder; Harry old Krieb, Henry Link and Charles Smith, of Williamsville. Their ages ranged from 20 to 30 years.

$40,000 IS OBTAINED FROM EXPRESS OFFICE

Mattoon, Ill., August 8.—(AP)—Lost variously estimated as worth between $15,000 and $40,000 was obtained from the American Railway Express office here early today.

The robbers entered the office while clerks were preparing the shipments for two late trains due within the hour, trussed the five employees and a man who happened in, and escaped. They were believed to have fled in two automobiles.

In Georgia: No State Income Tax; No Inheritance Tax Except the Federal Tax and Local Tax Exemption in Many Cities and Counties.

IN 1924 the people of Georgia validated a constitutional amendment authorizing counties or municipalities to exempt new industries from taxation for a period of five years. In the less than two years that this amendment has been effective, thirty-eight Georgia cities and forty-one Georgia counties have voted exemption. Nine cities and seven counties are to vote upon the question at an early date and no city and no county has refused to grant the exemption.

A friendly public sentiment must be given consideration when industry seeks a new location. In addition to this friendly public sentiment Georgia offers hydro-electric power at low rates, raw material of many kinds, adequate transportation facilities, a climate without extremes of heat or cold, Anglo-Saxon labor of the highest type and factory sites at prices that have not been inflated.

INSTALLMENT XIII.
A NEW ADVENTURE.

Several times lately Richenda had wondered what she would do when those charming people left her. Once she had caught herself wishing she could go on with them—wondering if there were any chance of them asking her to do this—then putting the thought away with an angry imprecation.

An answer: "Couldn't you come with us?" Lucille's voice was a little pleading.

"But—but—Mr. Fairways—" Richenda stammered.

"O, Brett? Why, he'd love it! Brett's not too fond of strangers." Richenda hadn't noticed this—he always seemed as charmingly at ease with new acquaintances as with old ones. "Indeed," went on Lucille, "it only means that instead of the quartet that was to be our company, we have a triangle. Even then, Brett can get hold of another man in Nairobi, maybe. O, Dickie, Dickie, darling," she grasped Richenda by the waist and whirled her dancing round the room. "Dickie, belovedest, tell me you'll come!"

"Mrs. Davenant—" Lucille!

"Very well, then—Lucille," Richenda found this dancing-eyed creature very difficult to resist. "If you really, really want me, of course I'll come. Providing always," she added soberly, "that Mr. Fairways doesn't mind."

"Brett mind? Why, he adores you! Says you are the most charmingly unsophisticated thing that ever was."

Unsophisticated! Dick felt a shade of annoyance. She, Richenda Peterson, twenty-six years old—unsophisticated! So that was what he thought about her, and unsophisticated was only a polite word for unsophisticated—a little gauche! She clicked her white teeth together angrily. She'd teach Mr. Fairways to think like that about her!

"Brett is positively charmed with the idea of your making one of the party," Lucille greeted her at lunch an hour later.

Richenda raised an inquiring eye to Fairways.

"I think it is topping of you, Miss Peterson," he agreed. "This little lady," he indicated Lucille, "absolutely insists on carrying through the original plans we all made in England. And, you know, once Lucille gets her teeth into anything," he shrugged his shoulders, with a humorous crinkle round his blue eyes, "once she gets her teeth into anything she is a regular bulldog for hanging on!"

"It draws one," answered Richenda.

"Fig!" Mrs. Davenant was pinching his arm now. "It's true, anyway," he went on. "But she'd have to forego the shooting trip—even though Kenya is an adept at shutting its eyes to convention! Still, there are limits for a Baptist minister's son—"

"Which you are not, you smooth-tongued sinner!" The white fingers pinched again.

"However," he continued unperturbed, "it is all so easy now you are coming with us. But what I want to know is—are you supposed to be chaperoning her or is she chaperoning you?" He finished with teasing laughter.

"Ah," said Lucille. "Wait until we get this pretty thing to the Highlands, Brett! She'll need all the combined chaperoning you and I can give her. Men are six to every solitary petticoat up there, I hear!"

Richenda flushed, then looked up, not knowing quite what to say, and suddenly she met Fairways' eyes. He was gazing at her intently... rather too fixedly. There was something in his look that she did not understand—something queerly disturbing—something that thrilled her faintly. It last barely a moment, then he was his gay, debonaire self again. But Richenda felt that she had seen another Brett Fairways—one that was oddly familiar to her.

The following week Fairways, Lucille and Richenda entrained for Nairobi.

Richenda enjoyed the twenty-hour journey to the Kenian Highlands. The little train on the single line railway began its steady climb very shortly after they left Mombasa, leaving behind the picturesque coconut plantations and much of the lowland heat as well.

Darkness fell quickly, and the three sat idly talking as they watched the dim landscape slip past, lit by frequent showers of sparks from the wood-fueled engine. At 8 o'clock the train stopped and the passengers disembarked for dinner at a wayside station. The air was chilly here, Richenda shivered suddenly.

Fairways, she noticed, was drawing Lucille's furs more snugly round the lightly clad shoulders. Suddenly Richenda felt a little lonely. Yes, she reflected, Mrs. Davenant was just the type of woman upon whom every man would feel impelled to dance attention. How nice to be born like that!

The dinner was a little dispiriting, too, and flying ants dropped half dead from the paraffin lamps into her soup. Richenda was glad when the meal had ended and the three strolled out to pace up and down the primitive platform for a few minutes before the train moved on again.

Fairways said good-night to them at the door of their carriage now, and departed for his own compartment.

"For pity's sake, let's turn in at once," grumbled Lucille. "One can't possibly read by this light."

Richenda awakened betimes next morning. "O," she murmured between chattering teeth, "it is positively arctic!"

The country had changed now. Great jagged, barren mountains cut their skyline. Occasionally an isolated pile stood oddly alone, rising up sheer from a grassy plain. Little farms were wotted about these plains, quaint stunted bushes stood alone and in clumps, and here and there a patch of darker forest.

A wide, wild countryside! Sometimes they trundled along for miles which showed no sign of habitation except for rare groups of half clad savages, who stood staring as the train passed on. Once a troop of baboons lolloped across an open patch not fifty yards away from them. A little later they caught sight of five daintily dappled, long-necked creatures, nibbling among a clump of stunted trees.

"Giraffes!" cried Lucille. "What a piece of luck! They are getting very rare even in Kenya."

Then suddenly a huge, silver white, rounded dome, shot with rose rays from the strengthening sun, stood out against the blue of a cloudless sky.

Kilimanjaro! The two women gazed enraptured at the wonderful, mysterious mountain of Tanganyika glimmered across to them. Now it was gone, hidden by a clump of nearer peaks. Now it was there again—nearer and lovelier than ever in its great white snow cap. They traced the silver small course of a shining glacier meandering down its side to where the dark forest crept up to meet the wandering line.

"Brett says there are rhino, elephant and all sorts of wonderful things and mysterious people 'round it," said Lucille.

"It draws one," answered Richenda. "Don't you feel it? It's queer—half living—"

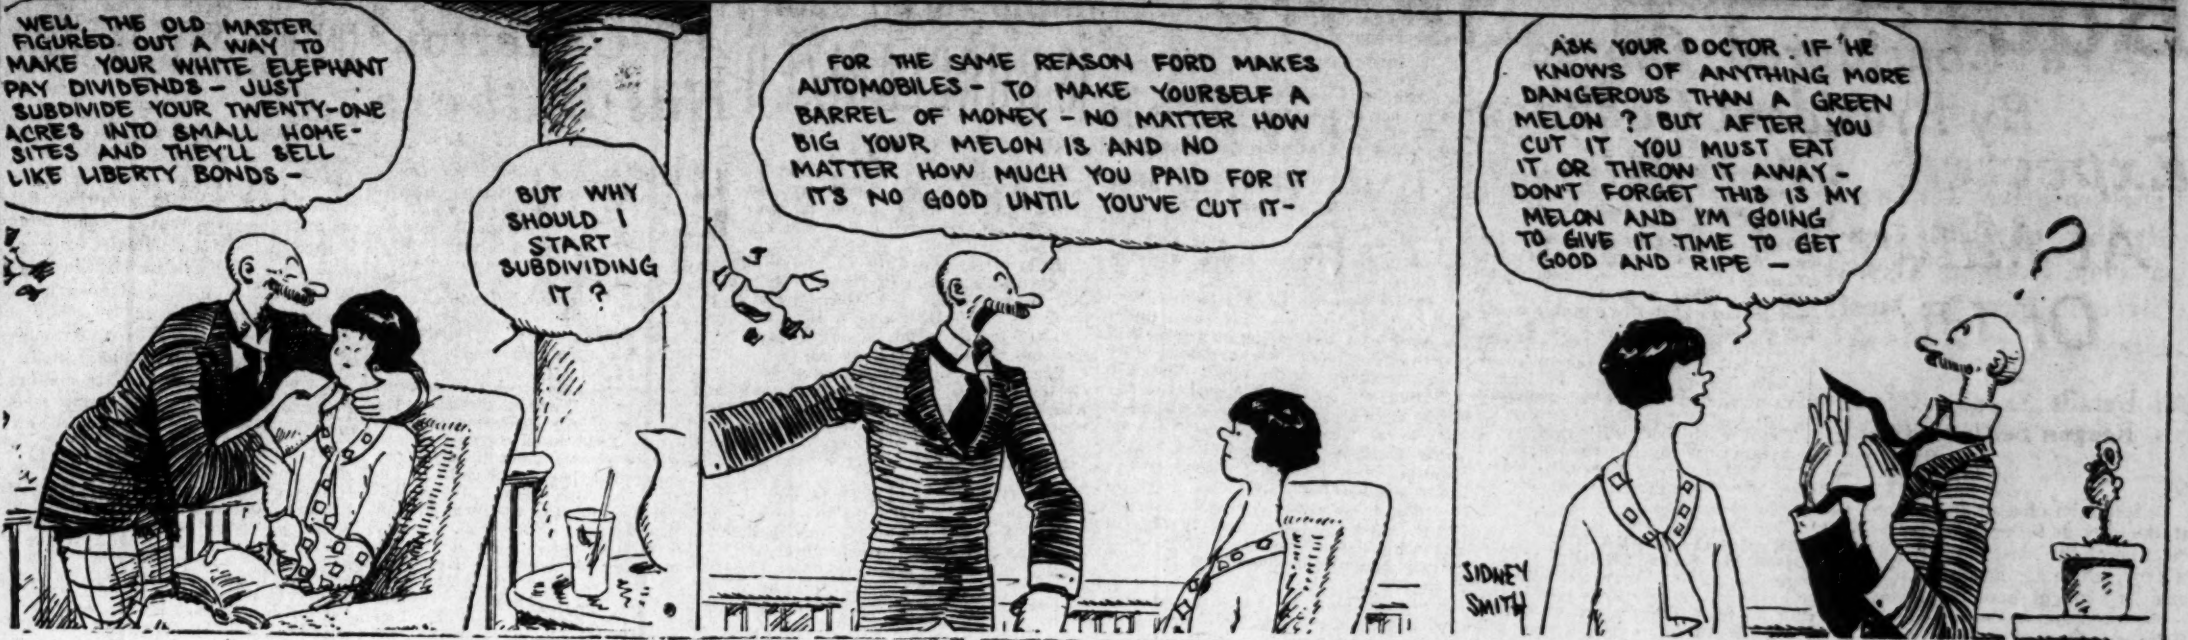

"The natives say it is alive," answered Lucille. "In the old days they made sacrifices to Kilimanjaro."

The train continued its long, slow climb. A little later Fairways joined them again at a wayside station.

Richenda loved to watch the rabble of native passengers that descended at each halt and sped across to the water taps, intent on filling gourds and bottles of all sorts and sizes.

Expected to Bak At Miller's Choice

Of Outside Official

All Details Except Referee and Opponent for Benny Reagan Settled—Both Principals Are Ready for Bell on Tuesday.

Selection of a referee for the Tiger Flowers-Battling McCreary fight at the city auditorium Tuesday night will be made this afternoon at a meeting of the Atlanta boxing commission. At that time the commission is expected to act adversely on Walk Miller's request that an out-of-town man be brought here to handle the fight.

Miller's request Saturday drew a bitter rebuke from Fuzzy Woodruff, a member of the commission, who declared that he would vote today for an Atlanta referee. Unofficially it was reported that both of the other commissioners would side with Woodruff. McCreary, who stood up under Harry Willis' sleight-of-hand blows for eight rounds, back when Willis was younger and stronger than he is today, has finished his heavy training for the Flowers bout. The world's champion also went through his last hard workout yesterday. Light work to keep their muscles limber will be resorted to today.

While some points to a victory for Flowers via the decision route, McCreary is not worried about the scrap. He knows that he can hit hard. He knows such a man would be out of opponents around Boston—and is going to take his chance of landing on the elusive person of the world's champion.

Tiger Is Tough. Even should McCreary land a knock down punch, he would still be far from victory. Flowers has been knocked down before, only to leap to his feet and jab his way to victory. It was only a few weeks ago that Eddie Ederle, a man flooded Flowers for the count of nine. Flowers came to his feet, went into a clinch to get his bearings, and then sailed into Huffman, with all the speed and power of which he is capable.

McCreary, according to the views of the ring experts, is due to take a licking, but he has sufficient skill and punching power to make the bout interesting. Flowers will have to be on his guard and it is common knowledge that Flowers fights his best battle against just such an opponent.

Unless Tommy Jones is very bit as good as Manager Sullivan claims he is, he is in for a terrific licking at the hands of Hollis Sullivan, whom he meets in the ten-round semi-final. Miller has been questioned by his predictions regarding the outcome of the semi-final and he has indicated that he is not doubting Sullivan's ability. He has whipped everybody that he has put up against recently and he has put up some mighty good punches at the city auditorium. On the other hand, he has absolutely no reason to doubt the reports concerning Jones' exceptional ability. That semi-final should be a great scrap.

Efforts to secure an opponent for Benny Reagan have fallen through, according to Promoter Lotz's announcement yesterday and unless a suitable fight is signed by noon today the proposed ten-round preliminary fight for Reagan will be dropped overboard. In this case another good six-round preliminary match will be thus assuring the fans of thirty-six rounds of fighting in addition to the chance of seeing the world's middleweight champion in action.

Great Prelims. Kid Macon and Fighting Kelly, negro fighters who have starred on Billy Hooper's all-negro cards, have been matched in six-round preliminary. The negroes have very little boxing science at their command, but they are in the ring to win and are perfectly willing, in fact eager, to trade blows.

In the four-round preliminary Ralph Fisher, favorite of the newsboys, will meet Mike Lewis, who is an Atlanta ring product. These youngsters are reported to be pretty clever. Tickets for the fight remain on sale at Chess' Place exclusively. A special section of seats has been reserved for the colored fans and they can secure advance reservations through Chess' Place.

Fans who attend the fight need have any fear of being uncomfortable from the warm weather. The auditorium is equipped with the latest modern cooling plants and is one of the most comfortable places in Atlanta during a heat wave.

TIGERS STOP YANKS. Detroit, August 8.—Earl Whitehill struck out twelve men to lead the Tigers to a double win over the Yankees today, 8 to 3. Paschal's home run in the fourth and Whitehill's wild throw in the seventh accounted for the other runs. Detroit made four runs in the first two runs and four more in the fourth. Whitehill pitched a perfect game, contributing to the Tigers' two runs in the seventh. Gehringer ran out the way, contributing to the Tigers' two runs in the seventh. Flowers Referee Today

BY DICK HAWKINS.

After dividing a double bill with the lowly Pebbles here Saturday, Mr. Niehoff's ball team will resume the series here today with the Little Rock outfit.

Some improvement in the hitting of the Crackers was evident in the games Saturday, but there is still room for considerable elevation and fans will watch with keen interest the showing of the crackling at the plate on Monday and Tuesday.

Following the Little Rock series the Crackers will journey to Chattanooga for games on Wednesday and Thursday and then will return to Spiller field for contests with the Lookouts Friday and Saturday. The local should prove this week if they are ever going to do so.

Today's game is scheduled to start at 3 o'clock.

In order to take on Flowers, the right-hander, were dispensed with, he being returned to the Albany team of the Southeastern league.

McKenry hurled well in the second contest until the seventh inning, he weakly being replaced by Don Miller, who was ejected from the game for striking a batter. Miss Ederle Recovers Rapidly From Strain Of Terrible Ordeal

Sunday Finds Swimmer Fresh and Feeling No Ill Effects. Magnificent Dinner Is Given by Henry Ederle, Father of Swimmer.

By JULIA HARPMAN, Official Chaplain to Gertrude Ederle.

Cape Gris Nez, France, August 8.—Gertrude Ederle, the young American girl whose name is ringing 'round the world, awoke this morning greatly refreshed from a long sleep in surroundings that in her training periods last summer and this, have become familiar, if not entirely some like to her.

The pain in her right wrist, in which she strained a ligament and which was her only discomfort when she had completed her remarkable record-time swim across the English channel in the face of highly unfavorable conditions, was much decreased today and the swelling was also less.

Otherwise this astonishing example of physical perfection, of girlish daring and spartan-like courage, was feeling no ill-effects from her marvelous achievement, except for a slight pain in the muscles of her shoulders—a reaction from the tremendous strain they were under without respite for 13 1/2 hours on Friday.

Trudie, although she had been unable to sleep much the night before, had had a day of travel, excitement, and unusual activity, with uproarious receptions on both sides of the channel, didn't retire here until 1:30 this morning. All Gris Nez remained up to pay her homage and she had not the heart to disappoint her friends for which she has been in training here.

Lillian, after swimming with Trudie for an hour, remained on Trudie's tug, the Ancora, during the latter half of the swim. When the Baltimore woman wasn't seasick she staggered to the rail to join in the singing that was kept up to occupy the time of Trudie's swim.

Trudie's swim for her is now gone to a better swimmer than "I" and she thinks she will not try the channel swim for which she has been in training here.

Quiet Sunday Is Passed In Strife-Torn Mexico; Boycott Effect Growing

Protestant Churches Hold Services Without Interruption—Many Reported Killed During Week.

Mexico City, August 8.—(AP)—Mexico City's two Protestant churches conducted services as usual today, and no more was made to interfere with them, while good, but not unusual crowds entered the various Catholic churches for prayers. It was the second Sunday that the Catholic churches were without the usual masses because of the withdrawal of the priests. The day passed quietly.

There was some discussion in various places about last night's announcement by the government that it intended to enforce, as regards Protestant churches, the same regulations relating to nationalization of the church property, as are being applied to the Catholic church. It was explained that this does not mean that the government would immediately seize or convert to its own use such property, but that it reserved the right to do so in the future, by reason of the constitution clauses declaring all church property belonging to the nation.

Registration Required.
The government also announced that it would require all Protestant pastors to register with the municipal authorities and give them an inventory of all church property, which the government, as it has been doing for more than half a century with Catholic churches, will continue to allow each congregation to use, although the government maintained claim to ownership.

All those recently arrested in connection with the plot against the life of President Calles because of his stand on the religious question, have been released on 1,000 pesos bail, except Dolores Lemus, city hall stenographer. Senorita Lemus, first to be arrested when the authorities discovered the conspiracy, expects to be able soon to obtain bail.

The small amount of bail, and the fact that the prisoners were released at all, is taken as indication of the authorities' conviction that the affair was not serious.

No Crowds Assemble.
There were no crowds today around the cathedral or other places of worship.

The Guadalupe shrine was comfortably filled with worshippers, the majority of them Indian women. The steps approaching the altar were covered with flowers, for the most part withered clusters of wild flowers plucked by the roadside by the Indians and carried for long distances under the hot sun. These blooms were offered to the Virgin of Guadalupe, the Indians' favorite saint.

Outside the church numerous stands, for the sale of food and drink and religious souvenirs, closed last week, had reopened. These stands last Sunday each bore a crepe bow of mourning. Today many of the bows which had been dropped off had not been replaced. The merry-go-round, which usually operates in the very shadow of the Guadalupe church for the entertainment of pilgrims, had resumed business.

On a visit to several villages near Mexico City the Associated Press correspondent found the Indians calm and not even expressing great interest when questioned on the religious situation. Invariably the correspondent found the priests out, and seemed entirely unaware that the episcopate ordered the priests to withdraw as a protest against the religious regulations.

Union Church Services.
The Rev. William Evans Thomas, American pastor of the Union church, Mexico City, conducted the usual services today. Lay readers conducted the services in Christ Episcopal church. This has been the custom for several months, since Dean Peacock promised the Mexican authorities he would cease conducting services if they rescinded their orders for his deportation. These orders were issued in accordance with the article of the constitution which forbids foreign religious ministers from officiating in Mexico.

The Catholic cathedral of Mexico City continues closed, and probably will remain closed for a month, pending adjustment of inventory difficulties. The municipal committee claims that valuable church articles are missing and insists on their return before accepting custody of the cathedral.

MEXICAN PERSECUTION ASSAILED IN ROME.

Rome, August 8.—Referring to the Catholic church in Mexico, which was supposed to have been bound while a prisoner, Canon Buscachi prayed for Mexico Sunday and delivered a sermon attacking the persecution by the Mexican government.

ST. BARTHOLOMEW'S EVE RECALLED BY MEXICAN.

New York, August 8.—(AP)—Arturo M. Elias, consul general of Mexico, in a statement issued today, asked if it were the desire of certain Catholics in the United States who are agitating against the arms embargo to Mexico "to bring about another massacre of Saint Bartholomew's eve."

Manuel C. Tellez, Mexican ambassador to the United States, who arrived in Brooklyn last night on the Ward liner, Mexico, said that the present conflict between the Mexican government and the Roman Catholic church, "is of no concern to any other nation."

In his statement today, Consul General Elias denounced the plea of former Judge Ambrose Higgins, a Republican Rights in Mexico, for the lowering of the arms embargo. "Is it his desire," the consul general asked, "to bring about another religious war similar to those which bathed Europe in blood during the middle ages? If the government of the United States raised the arms embargo at this time only one construction could be put upon it by the civilized world."

REPORTS OF KILLINGS GIVEN CONFIRMATION.

(Copyright, 1926, by The News.)
Mexico City, August 8.—A United News staff correspondent, returning from a tour of cities and towns in the interior, brings confirmation of reports of a week of killings in various places.

In Guadalajara alone 26 deaths are reported, unofficially following two clashes over the religious laws, although officials maintain that there have been only five deaths. In the town of Zapitlan, unofficial statements give one dead and three wounded; while one fatality is recorded on Coahuila.

One of the victims in Guadalajara is Luis Gonzales, chief of the secret police, who was stabbed to death in the Church of Jesus Christ Monday night after he had revealed his identity by shouting "Long live the constitution."

Killed by Catholics.
Enraged Catholics are said to have been responsible for his death. After he had been killed they guarded the church all night, demanding that all approaching shout "Long live Christ, our king."

Those refusing, whether they were women or men, were beaten with sticks and stoned. Since Monday night this has been a regular nightly occurrence at the Guadalajara church, with little interference either from soldiers or police. The United News correspondent learned that where there were normally 2,000 troops in and around Guadalajara, there are at present 4,000.

On Tuesday night a group of Catholics fought for 10 minutes in a battle with soldiers there. The soldiers maintain that the Catholics provoked the fight by firing revolvers. "Churchmen, however, say that the troops planned the battle in advance, and point out that a minute after it had started other troops appeared on the scene. This fight occurred at the church where the sanctuary of Guadalupe is located. Observers say that the soldiers that morning had said that trouble was impending in Guadalajara.

25 Declared Dead.
Unofficial figures give 25 persons as dead as a result of this fighting, although officials will admit only four deaths.

It is stated reliably that President Calles will set August 10 as the time limit for priests to return to their churches and that drastic measures will be taken after that date against those remaining away. Meantime, Catholics are threatening to close private schools where religious teaching is barred. This would affect 2,000,000 school children. Another pastoral letter is expected soon, and it is understood to be intended as an exhortation to Catholics to continue attending services.

The second Sunday without priests was quiet in Mexico City. Many Catholics attended churches for private devotions, while Protestant Mexicans held their regular services.

CATHOLICS IN SPAIN URGED TO PROTEST.

Valencia, Spain, August 8.—(AP)—The political organization known as Juventude Carlista has issued a manifesto to all Catholics in Spain inviting them to protest against the religious measures of President Calles, of Mexico. It is proposed in the manifesto that a boycott be established against all Mexican merchandise, supplementing the boycott in Mexico called by the League of the Defense of Religious Liberty in protest against the regulations.

GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS ARE REPORTED KILLED.

Mexico City, August 8.—(AP)—The department of agriculture has information that two of its engineers, Raymond Violante and Jose Almeida, were stabbed and killed by known persons at Acambaro, state of Jalisco, last Monday night. The belief is held by the department that the two engineers were suspected of being government religious agents.

WHISKY ENTERS
ARKANSAS FIGHT

Little Rock, Ark., August 8.—(AP)—One of the most bitter campaigns in Arkansas' history has practically ended and voters will go to the polls Tuesday to choose among 20 candidates for democratic party nominations for various state offices, five candidates for two seats in congress and two candidates for railroad commissioner from the fifth district. In addition full county tickets, from justice of the peace to circuit judges will be chosen and candidates selected for every seat in the state house of representatives and half of the state senate.

Because of the unusually bitter campaign for the nomination for governor between Governor Tom J. Terral, seeking re-election, and Judge John E. Martineau, of Little Rock, political leaders are forecasting the largest vote ever cast in a democratic primary in the state. Figures published here today fixed the probable vote at 225,000 as compared with 207,000 cast two years ago.

Issues Are Personal.

The issues in the campaign have been largely of a personal nature. The Rev. Paul E. Kemper, superintendent of the Arkansas Anti-Saloon league, three weeks ago wrote a letter to ministers throughout the state giving a personal indorsement to Governor Terral, and asserting that one of the issues of the campaign was the liquor question. Ministers who favor Judge Martineau publicly protested the action of Rev. Kemper.

Governor Terral has charged throughout the campaign that Judge Martineau drinks to excess and has severely criticized judicial actions of the judge. Judge Martineau, in return has charged that the governor has abused his power as chief executive, accepted personal life insurance in payment for state fire insurance and has issued secret paroles to convicts, while at the same time publicly refusing to pardon or parole any prisoner. Corruption is charged.

The race for state commissioner of lands, highways and improvements has been almost as bitter, with Dwight H. Blackwood, state treasurer, charging that Herbert B. Wilson, incumbent, who also seeks re-nomination, has permitted friends to make large sums through their relationship with him. Brose Messersmith, of Heber Springs, is the third man in this race. Congressman Hartsell Ragon, in the fifth district, is opposed for re-nomination by Karl Greenhaw, young Harrison lawyer, and B. E. McFerrin, Harrison lumberman. United States Senator T. H. Cawaway has no opposition.

State Auditor J. Carroll Cone, Attorney General H. W. Applegate, Secretary of State Jim B. Higgins, Associate Justice T. H. Humphrey and Railroad Commissioners Clay Henderson and Harry Earheart are unopposed.

There are nine candidates for two seats on the supreme court bench. For the first time in the history of the state a candidate will be nominated for lieutenant governor. Those in the race for this office are Thornberry A. Gray, of Batesville, Jake L. Wilson, Eldorado; John A. Riggs, Hot Springs, and Harvey Parsell, of Dermott.

MRS. BESANT READY FOR AMERICAN TRIP

London, August 8.—Mrs. Annie Besant, theosophist leader, has returned to London from the recent Star of the East convention in Holland and is making preparations for her trip to America, on which she starts August 19 for a lecture tour of the principal cities on the coming of the world teacher.

Krishnamurti, the young Hindu professor of Mrs. Besant, who has been billed by theosophists as the medium of the new world teacher, will accompany her.

The headquarters of the Star of the East in America are at Hollywood, Cal., where Fritz Kunz is director of the organization. General meetings will be held there under the presidency of Krishnamurti.

J. O. WOOD TO SPEAK AT FAYETTEVILLE

Fayetteville, Ga., August 8.—(Special)—J. O. Wood, legislator and candidate for governor, will address a mass meeting at the Fayetteville court-house here Monday, discussing the issues in the gubernatorial campaign. Mr. Wood's supporters here are active in his behalf.
